Board Investigates Harbor Charges Made By Ed. Lord Regarding Work On Piers

INSTRUMENTS SHOW THAT

Commissioners Decide However To Be On Safe Side and Reinforce the Work

The statement made by Ed Lord, ef. the Lord Young Engineering Company, contractors who are building piers 8, 9 public works, the chairman of the pub and 10, at the meeting of the harbor of the harbor board, the chairman of board Wednesday afternoon that the retaining wall of pier 9 had given vay and bulged five inches out to sea was found to be entirely unfounded vesterday, according to members of the har bor board, who visited the pier vesterday morning and watched measure ments being taken.

Lord told the board that his foreman on the job, Winslow, had told Inspector Greger that the retaining an. had bulged out five inches. According to statements made yesterday by threof the commissioners, instruments put on the wall yesterday morning showed a bulge of only one quarter of an inch. and most of this was inward instead . outward, and all of it was due merely to an excess of cement, which was en advantage rather than the reverse

In regard to the anchorage of the retaining wall, which Lord declares is insufficient and liable to give way and let the wall go out, the members of th board expressed the belief that, in or der to be on the safe side, it might be well to increase the strength of the "stirrups," or steel bars by which the wall and cylinders are fastened to the land. This, they say, can be done easily and at small expense now

Will Reinforce Wall There is to be a fill behind the re taining wall, and Superintendent Forbes per square inch, while the opposing of the wall would be but sixty-five pounds per square inch, leaving a net twenty-five pounds per square inch.

It was estimated that the wall itself inforce the anchorage.

It was over this question primarily that Lord and Forbes had their wordy altereation at the meeting of the board

Another matter over which they argued angrily was that of payment to the contractor for "extras," that is for work done outside of the specifica-

Lord asked payment on bills aggremakes the amount owed the contractor can be adjusted, members of the board said yesterday, is to go over the whole amount, item by item, and check it

me time ago, when Lord rendered the bills, Forbes, without the knowledge of the board, agreed to pay him the cost of his work and materials plus twenty per cent. But when the bill teached Auditor Fisher he turned it down and pointed to a clause in the contract which provided that in the case of extras the contractor should be paid cost plus only fifteen per cent.

However, since the contract was exe cuted the cost of material has greatly increased, and if the amount were based upon the cost of such materials at the time the contract was signed the contractor would get much the worst

Decision Of Board

This, the members of the board say they feel would not be fair, and they propose to pay the contractor actual cost of material and labor plus the fifteen per cent specified in the contract.

But there is a material difference of equinon as to what actual cost was, and it is that which must be adjusted before the bills can be paid. For instance, the contractor was required to dredge out 1500 cubic feet not mentioned in the specifications. He says it cost him one dollar a yard to do this work, but the inspector in his figures allows but $400 for the entire job.

The engineering company, according to members of the harbor board, has been for months trying to have Inspec tor Gregor removed. They say the contractors want in his place an in-spector who is "friendly." But the board is determined to stand by its inspector, as was demonstrated Wednesday when it adopted a resolution ex pressing entire confidence in him.

New York 79.00 BOWEN-PENNIMAN

Norman Earle Bowen, civil engineer, and Miss Edna Lucille Penniman, of the Lihue School faculty, were quietly married at the residence of Rev. J. M. Lydgate Friday evening, only a few friends being present, says the Garden Island of Kausi of last Tuesday. After the wedding they motored to the Waipouli home of Colonel Broadbent and will depart next Saturday for Honolulu

Honolulu.

The bride was fair, indeed, in her wedding gown of white taffeta and georgette crepe, edged with filmy valencienne. Her only ornament, save the wreath of bride rose buds that held the veil in place, was a pearl necklace. The ring ceremony was used and the lines were impressively spoken by Rev.

J. M. Lydgate. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen have been in Libus only a short time, both arriving within a year; but they have made many friends who will sincerely regret their departure so soon. Mr. Bowen is a graduate of the University of Washington. The bride is a native of California.

Among those present at the wedding were Mrs. Bridgewater, Mrs. Mesick, Colonel and Mrs. Brondbeut, Mrs. Burke and Miss Mumford.
